

There are not enough free software/online resources for studying that you can tailor to your needs (stuff that has a variety of options, not just one thing like flashcards or a quiz).

WHAT IT IS	RESEARCH	BASIC NEEDS	POTENTIAL FEATURES	POTENTIAL ISSUES	UPKEEP
target audience are students from k-12 and post secondary Ainsley Weaver	Find out why some apps turn from free into paid subscriptions Ainsley Weaver	user interface must be easy to use and navigable, not cluttered Ainsley Weaver	combines all the common/successful studying techniques Ainsley Weaver	similar to other platforms, students may end up using it to cheat Ainsley Weaver	(hypothetically) find a team and divvy up the work amongst them. something like research, analysis, program development, design, marketing, and support Ainsley Weaver
online studying platform Ainsley Weaver	Research existing software/apps and what went well, what didn't go well Ainsley Weaver	possibly include a game element similar to gimkit Ainsley Weaver	must include progress tracking, users can see how far they are in each study set and what things they need to work on Ainsley Weaver		tech support needs to be a main group, just in case any bugs happen or things fall apart Ainsley Weaver
free to use, there's no charge/subscription for usage Ainsley Weaver	find out what the most popular (online) studying techniques are Ainsley Weaver	public sets can be customized by the user to fit their needs Ainsley Weaver	users can create different lists/groups of things to study and can organize them based on their needs Ainsley Weaver		how did the current big companies rise to fame? and how did they keep themselves in the spotlight? Ainsley Weaver
includes things like flashcards, quizzes, matching, tests, and writing out the info Ainsley Weaver	find out what makes sites like this appealing to certain age groups Ainsley Weaver	limit distractions on the platform to keep students engaged Ainsley Weaver	there needs to be some sort of group studying feature that allows students to get together and learn Ainsley Weaver
	find out if it costs a lot of money to run a program like this Ainsley Weaver	ability to have public/private sets that others can use Ainsley Weaver	maybe have it as a lockdown browser where they cant switch tabs Ainsley Weaver		